The Bill of Rights Institute Presents A Free Parent Workshop:

CRUCIAL CONVERSATIONS:

Tools for Talking to your Teens about Controversial Topics

Are you curious about what your teen is seeing and thinking when it comes to today's news and current events? Talking to teens can be tough enough without mixing controversial topics into the conversation.

With digital platforms and social media continually overwhelming teens with controversial headlines and events, we understand it can be difficult to know where to even begin. We're here to help!

Join the Bill of Rights Institute in Colorado Springs on Saturday, August 11, for a free, parent education workshop. Using primary sources and historical context, we'll share tools and tips for how to talk to your teens about some of today's toughest topics and controversial events happening around them.
